

Suggest an IAAO Connect Community

Prior to completing this form, please review and take into consideration the information below.

When completed, please email document to connect@iaao.org.

- I believe there is a specialized market or interest in the community?
- What do you want to have accomplished in the community?
- How could IAAO promote this new community and encourage others to join?
- Can I provide content for the community help encourage discussions?
- I have searched for communities with similar titles
- The community is not based on a one-time event

Some measures of success for communities are:

- Frequent discussions
- At least one post per day in the community
- Posts/discussions that illicit responses from members
