

Property Tax Caps/Proposition 117—An Introspective Analysis

Michael Combrink, Esq.

Michael Combrink was a summer associate at JSH in 2022 and returned in 2023 as part of our automotive trial group, defending our auto and transportation insurer, motor carrier, product manufacturer, and retail clients.

While attending the University of Arizona James E. Rogers College of Law, Michael was the Senior Articles Editor for the Arizona Journal of Environmental Law & Politics, and a member of the American Constitutional Society and Student Bar Association. He worked as a Legal Intern for the Legislative Council of the Arizona Legislature during the 2023 Session. His bachelor's degree is in Arts, Anthropology & History (Northern Arizona University), and his M.P.A., specializing in Nonprofit Administration, is from ASU.

Prior to attending law school, Michael served as the Government Relations Director for the Maricopa County Assessor's Office and as the Chief Deputy Assessor for Coconino County. As an attorney Michael also takes cases defending property tax valuation on behalf of Assessor's offices in Arizona.

In his spare time, Michael enjoys spending time with his wife and four children, traveling, and appreciating the great outdoors.

Ed Hermes, Esq.

Ed Hermes is a commercial litigator who is committed to serving as a trusted advisor to his clients and community. His practice is focused on complex commercial, tax, property, construction, and Indian Law disputes. Ed appears on behalf of his clients in state, federal, and tribal courts. Ed litigates contract and tort claims, property disputes, commercial and residential construction disputes, and tax appeals. Having previously lived and worked in Indian Country, Ed also advises companies and economic development entities in conducting business and creating job opportunities in Indian Country. Ed represents tribes, tribal entities and businesses that operate on Indian Reservations, including leasing, compacting, economic development, and legal compliance matters. Ed is an active member of the community and is involved in numerous local and education-based organizations, including currently serving as a board member of the Osborn School District Governing Board, where he works to improve public education in Phoenix. Ed also serves as chair of the City of Phoenix Vision Zero Street Transportation Committee, where he works to make the streets safer for children and families. Within Snell & Wilmer, Ed is the co-chair of the firm's Committee on Diversity, Inclusion, and Belonging.